

Marc Hauman is a singer and songwriter from Temse, a small town on the river Scheldt where the shipbuilding industry used to flourish. His songs often recreate the atmosphere of earlier times, when his hometown was booming. He has recorded three CDs with his band Hauman & De Moeite.

He was close to Wannes van de Velde, the greatest singer/songwriter Flanders has known, and sang traditional songs with him in the a capella group Water & wijn.

In 2005 the VRT's recording of Marc Hauman with Vigdis & Koen de Cauter won the Svetozar Stracina Grand Prix in Bratislava.

He is also greatly in demand as a singer in many different music productions.
